

Christmas Song

(to the tune of "Rudolph")

Clancy, the Arctic camel,
had a very massive hump,
and if you ever saw it,
you'd say it's a real bump.
All of the North Pole reindeer
used to laugh and call him "weird"
— they doubted Global Warming,
it was nothing to be feared.

Then one sweltry Christmas Eve,
Santa came to say,
"Clancy, with your hump so huge,
won't you tow my sun-baked luge?"
Then all the reindeer loved him
and they shouted out "Whoop-ee!"
— Clancy, the Arctic camel,
you'll make iceless his-tor-y!"

